The London Insurance market, like most sectors, is evolving constantly; every single day seems to bring something new, but there is one common denominator at the centre of everything we do here in EC3: our PEOPLE. Everybody in our market plays an integral role in the overall success of this unique trading place, from the receptionist to the CEO.

This hugely important industry sector with more than 300 years of tradition, continues to rely on its core values of trust, transparency and loyalty, with people at the very heart of this face to face trading environment, supported by technology.

Developing and supporting our future leaders in EC3 has always been of paramount importance to the London Market. We are, at the end of the day, recognised as one of the World's leading insurance markets and the original home of insurance. We attract professionals from all over the globe, who come to London to gain the unique experience offered by the Lloyd's Market.

Over these three centuries, we have created a World class pool of talent, through a mixture of "on the job" peer led training, as well as enhanced learning and development using third parties and educational bodies. The extended and sudden period of remote working for us all, has substantially tried this reliable teaching model, resulting in both employers and career focused professionals rethinking the best ways to ensure that learning and development continues.

PROGRAMME

5 DAYS

12TH-16TH OCT 2020 / 11.30AM - 1.00PM

The global pandemic is driving many different working behaviours and in particular, has escalated the adoption of new and existing technologies. These factors will have an influence on leadership styles in the future, where digital skills will become of paramount importance.

At this year's Leaders of Tomorrow Conference, which will be staged in a virtual format as a lunchtime show, over five consecutive days, we will be focusing on both digital skill development and the importance of virtual leadership. The whole conference is aimed at those looking to progress their careers in this exciting marketplace and not only attracts those in their 20's and 30's but also middle and senior management who have an active interest in ensuring we are developing our leaders of tomorrow.

We'll hear from senior commentators, subject matter experts and those leading our Market. We are delighted to welcome John Neal, CEO of Lloyd's, to address delegates on Day 5, Friday 16th. Attendees will have the opportunity to listen, learn and put questions directly to our esteemed presenters.
